

Weather warning

Written by Cosma Papouis

Friday, 07 January 2011 10:48 - Last Updated Friday, 07 January 2011 10:48

---

FW: Weather warning

Weather      □ warning

Lady goes on vacation to Jamaica. Upon arriving, she                      meets a black man, and after a night of passionate love                      making she asks him, 'What is your name?'

'I can't tell you,' the black man says.

Every night they meet and every night she asks him again                      what his name is, and he always responds the same, he                      can't tell her.
On her last night there she asks again                      'Can you please tell me your name?'

'I can't tell you my name because you will laugh at me. '                      says the Black man.

'There is no reason for me to laugh at you,' the lady                      says.

'Fine, my name is Snow!' the black man replies. And the lady bursts into laughter, and the Black man gets mad and                      says, 'I knew you would make fun of it'.

The lady replied, 'I'm not making fun of your name. I'm                      thinking of my husband who won't believe me when I tell                      him that I had 10 inches of Snow every day in Jamaica.'